

HOBART SAYS HE HAS NO CANDIDATE.

Willing to Be Running Mate with Any of the West's Favorite Sons.

Denies That He Is Wedded to Allison, and Says He Thinks Cleveland Will Run.

AN HONORED AND ACTIVE CAREER.
Lawyer, Business Man, Capitalist, Administrator and Political Leader—His Life Has Been a Varied One.

Garret A. Hobart, the candidate of the New Jersey Republicans for the Vice-Presidency of the United States, is one of the most successful and popular citizens of Paterson. A lawyer by profession, he has charge of many business interests of importance and magnitude, and his influence is felt in the paths of industry, finance and commerce. He is a director in several wealthy and powerful corporations and was recently chosen by the trunk line presidents of the country as one of the three arbitrators of their complex system. When seen at his home by a Journal reporter yesterday Mr. Hobart said that the published statement that he favored the nomination of Mr. Allison was misunderstood and that he had expressed no preference. Nor had he made any personal effort to secure the nomination for Vice-President. He did not consider his chances as inseparable from those of McKinley and believed they would be as good in the event of the nomination of any other Western man. Mr. Hobart stated that he believed that the National Convention would adopt a platform based upon sound money, a sound tariff and adequate navy and coast defenses, and that this would secure the nomination of the party, whoever they might be. Cleveland, he thought, the strongest man the Democratic party could name, and the probable candidate.

On the subject of his own chances, Mr. Hobart was reticent, remarking that he had given no opinion and did not care to do so. He regarded even the mention of his name as an honor and was proportionately thankful to his friends.

HIS PUBLIC CAREER.
Mr. Hobart was born at Long Branch in 1844. He was educated at Rutgers College, from which he graduated in 1865. Shortly afterward he entered the law office of Socrates Tuttle, in Paterson, and was admitted to practice in 1869. He was appointed City Counselor of Paterson in 1871 and counsel for the Board of Freeholders in 1872. He was twice elected a member of the Assembly and was chosen Speaker. In 1876 he was elected to the Senate, where he remained six years. He was President of the Senate in 1881 and 1882. During his career in the Senate he introduced, probably, more bills of an important nature than any other member.

In 1880 he was elected chairman of the Republican State Committee, and has continued in that position ever since. In 1884 he was chosen member of the Republican National Committee, which place he also retains. Though in Europe when the boom was born that eventually carried John W. Griggs to the gubernatorial chair, it was his skillful management on his return that secured the Republican nomination for the present Governor of New Jersey. It was by his warm personal and political friendship with William J. Sewell that restrained Mr. Hobart from allowing the use of his name on several occasions for the United States Senatorship.

Mr. Hobart's connection with the business interests of New Jersey is extensive. He has been receiver of a number of banks and railroads and is at present president of the Paterson Street Railway Company, one of the first in the country to introduce electric traction.

FAMILY AND HOME LIFE.
Mr. Hobart's wife was a Miss Tuttle, the daughter of his old legal preceptor. He has a son twelve years old. His only daughter, Fannie, a young woman of great attainments and unbounded charity, died at Bellagio, Italy, in June, 1895.

Mr. Hobart's home betokens a wealth seven figures in extent and wielded by a man of good taste and extended culture. The central hallway is adorned with an excellent painting of the owner, presented by his colleagues of the New Jersey Assembly on the occasion of his retirement from the Speaker's chair.

HOGS INVADE A STORE.
Wild Drove of Two Hundred Porks Make Things Lively at Dover.

Dover, N. J., April 19.—A drove of 200 hogs got away from their drivers this morning and roamed all around the city. The hogs came in from the West on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad, and while being driven from the cars to J. B. Richardson's slaughter house got away.

The only damage done was at M. C. Haven's store, into which they ran and knocked over several showcases. The hogs were all recovered, with the exception of five.

Ex-Chief of Police Santa Dead.
Hackensack, N. J., April 19.—Ex-Chief of Police John J. Santa, who suffered a second stroke of paralysis last night, died early this morning. He was sixty-six years old and leaves five children.

RID STREAMS OF CARP.

Sluggish Fish to Be Removed from Passaic River and It Will Be Stocked with Bass.

Paterson, N. J., April 19.—State Fish and Game Protector Charles A. Shimer has undertaken, at the direction of the Fish and Game Commission, to rid the Passaic River of carp, and to stock it with the lakes of New Jersey with pike, perch, channel catfish, and different species of the bass family.

Not being made at great cost for the work, and special arrangements have been made for the transportation of pike, perch and blue catfish from the great lakes for breeding purposes. The river will be thoroughly dragged from its narrow part in Morris County to a point at a considerable distance below the Passaic Falls, and in the meantime the new supplies of fish will be placed in one of the great reservoirs.

One of the most interesting parts of the arrangement will be the attempt to land-lock salt-water smelts. They spawn in fresh-water streams, and it is thought they can be made to adapt themselves to life in the inland ponds of Jersey.

MAD AND FATAL FLIGHT.

Three Victims Picked Up After a Runaway Horse Had Passed—One of Them a Cyclist.

Bayonne, N. J., April 19.—Another accident, which may prove fatal, occurred on the new public road about 8:45 this morning. One of the most interesting parts of the arrangement will be the attempt to land-lock salt-water smelts. They spawn in fresh-water streams, and it is thought they can be made to adapt themselves to life in the inland ponds of Jersey.

An ambulance from the Bayonne Hospital removed Schmitz to his house in Jersey City. Gussman had his right arm broken and his left leg broken. He was badly wounded. He was able to go home. Lavin received a badly wrenched back and some painful bruises.

down and continued on his mad flight down the thoroughfare. Bystanders picked the three men up and carried them to the house of George Bonney, on West Thirty-third street. Schmitz had two ribs broken and was suffering from concussion of the brain and internal injuries. He will probably die.

CANON MASON AT TRINITY.

A Large Congregation Gathers to Hear the English Divine.

The Rev. Arthur J. Mason, D. D., canon of Canterbury Cathedral, England, preached at the morning service at Trinity yesterday. The presence of the noted church dignitary attracted the attendance of a large and fashionable congregation.

There were numerous comments on the Canon's youthful appearance. He proved himself an earnest and forceful speaker, and held the closest attention of his hearers all through his discourse, the theme of which was "Doubting Thomas's" Expressions of Canon Mason's characteristic expressions were:

"The Lord does not refer to Thomas as a disbeliever, but says unless he takes care of himself he will become one. The tendency of his mind is in that direction. Wherever must be done to save him. Thomas was a dependent, temperate, true-hearted, but dependent. Thomas's isolation was the best of his faith."

"We are wrenched by the example of Thomas that a fellowship of the faithful is necessary. Faith is kept warm and alive while Christ's people are in the world. Canon Mason seldom indulges in gestures. He is tall, and of dignified presence. His thick, curly hair, combined with his fair complexion, give him the youthful appearance which excited comment."

During his brief stay in New York Canon Mason is stopping with the Rev. George Walpole, at No. 8 Chelsea square.

GEALING STILL AT LARGE.

Joe Jordan, the Victim of His Murderous Attack, Still Unconscious.

Englewood, N. J., April 19.—Joe Jordan, a retired horseman, of Closter, fifty years old, is still lying unconscious in the Englewood Hospital. His skull was fractured near the base of the brain yesterday afternoon.

Jordan was knocked down by Emil Gealing, a young man employed in the Closter Shade Factory. The latter pounded Jordan's head on the stone walk till the blood oozed from his mouth and ears.

The injured man, it is said, cannot recover. Officers are still hunting for Gealing. Corner Riccarda is waiting for Jordan to regain consciousness so as to get an ante-mortem statement.

MRS. CHARD IS MORE THAN A CENTURY OLD.

With 142 Descendants, She Will Celebrate Her 107th Birthday.

Is Bright and Active Notwithstanding Her Great Age, and Smokes a Pipe.

DAUGHTER OF A NAVAL OFFICER.

Ran Away from Home in Her Childhood to Escape from a Harsh Stepfather. Four Generations to Gather Around Her To-day.

Vineyard, N. J., April 19.—Clipped and bright at the age of 107, Mrs. Hannah Chard, surrounded by four generations of descendants, will celebrate her birthday at the home of her eldest son, Joel, at Ferrel, Gloucester County, to-morrow. If the weather is fine, vehicles from the smallest buggy to the lumbering carriage, will arrive during the morning packed with merry crowds of youngsters, and the celebration will partake of the nature of a county fair. Octogenarians and nonagenarians, too, from different parts of the State will exchange congratulations with "Aunt Hannah."

Joel Chard's farm, "Aunt Hannah's" home, is one of the pleasantest spots in Gloucester County. "Aunt Hannah" has 142 relatives who are expected to be present to-morrow. Joel Chard is seventy years old, and William is sixty-six. They are the only surviving children of a family of twelve. There are thirty-two grandchildren, ninety-two great-grandchildren and sixteen great-great-grandchildren.

The old lady was caused great sorrow last fall by the death of her son Jackson, at the age of sixty-one. "Aunt Hannah" is strong in limb and mind, and enjoys excellent health. She is an inveterate smoker and can daily be seen in the large old kitchen seated in her high-top rocker, serenely puffing away at her old clay pipe. Mrs. Chard can darn, sew and peel potatoes or apples as well as ever, but she always gets some one to thread the needles for her, as her sight is failing. She has done wonderful work with the needle, and has a quilt of several thousand pieces, beautifully worked with flowers, which will be exhibited to-morrow.

Mrs. Chard was born in New York. Her father, Peter Mulderberger, captain of a man-of-war, died when she was an infant. Her mother soon married again, and her father-in-law treated her so harshly that she ran away from home, accompanied only by a faithful dog. She supported herself by selling flowers in the streets of Philadelphia.

She was afterward bound out and for a few years lived on the historic fields of Brandywine. Mrs. Chard remembers distinctly the bustle and excitement incident to the war of 1812. The family with whom she was living moved to New Jersey in an old-fashioned canvas wagon drawn by oxen. They built a rude black house near the site of her present home.

At the age of twenty-two "Aunt" Hannah was married to William Chard. At that time she was a buxom girl of great strength and often accompanied the men in hours of danger with a gun on her shoulder. Her husband died about thirteen years ago, at the age of ninety-one. The family related to General Sickles, of New York, and through her husband Mrs. Chard has a claim of $100,000 against the city of Brooklyn. It is contended that Chard's grandfather and his sister owned about 1,500 acres of land on the present site of the city. Twenty-six years ago an attempt was made to press the suit.

"Aunt" Hannah has an aversion to railroad travel, and in going from her home in Port Norris to visit her son in Ferrel she made the trip of sixty miles behind a slow logging horse, driven by her granddaughter. Mrs. Chard attributes her long life to the climate of New Jersey, which she thinks is conducive to longevity. The most sorrowful incident in the old lady's life was the death of her daughter two years ago, at the age of seventy-three.

DUNWOODIE SEMINARY FUNDS.

Liberal Contributions Follow a Request by Archbishop Corrigan.

Archbishop Corrigan made an appeal for money to the parishioners of St. Francis Xavier's Church at each of the masses celebrated yesterday in behalf of the new diocesan seminary at Dunwoodie.

At the 11 o'clock high mass the Archbishop dwelt strongly on the duty of providing the highest class of educational and theological training for those who intend to enter the priesthood. The needs of the Church in this State and its surroundings had outgrown the capacity of St. Joseph's Seminary, at Troy. The bishops of other dioceses, such as Rochester, Buffalo, Newark and Brooklyn had established seminaries, and to supply the need of the highest class of training for its future priesthood the archdiocese of New York had commenced the fine institution at Dunwoodie.

The Archbishop announced that the seminary would be opened in August 19 in the Feast of the Assumption. A generous response was made to the appeal.

DOWN ON GANG RULE.

Attempt to Railroad a Boulevard Resolution Almost Causes a Riot in a Port Richmond Meeting.

Port Richmond, S. I., April 19.—For a few minutes a lively row was threatened at a citizens' meeting which was held at Griffith Hall, this place, last evening. It was called as a meeting to obtain a popular expression upon a bill now pending before the State Legislature authorizing the issue of bonds for the building of a boulevard in this village. The proposed thoroughfare is laid out to extend from the easterly to the westerly limits of the village, a distance of a mile and a half, and the condemnation proceedings are now in progress.

The meeting was attended by nearly 500 citizens. It was opened with an address by Counselor at Law, Stafford, who ofered a resolution condemning the boulevard plan as costly, burdensome to the taxpayers, and unnecessary, urging the Trustees to discontinue all proceedings in the matter, and calling upon Senator Higbie and Assemblyman Borth to oppose the village bonding bill.

Chairman J. H. Jewell promptly called for a vote on the resolution, declaring that while several citizens were on their feet clamoring to be heard in opposition to the resolutions. The chairman ruled them out of order.

There were shouts of "No gag rule!" and "This is not a political meeting!" from all over the hall.

Quiet was restored with difficulty, and then David J. Jones announced that the meeting was held under the auspices of the Citizens' Protective Association to oppose the bill, and the speakers would be announced. Those present, he said, were only guests of the association.

After a speech by Mr. Jones, a score of names were read as a committee to go to Albany to oppose the bill, and the meeting adjourned without motion.

HIGHWAYMAN CAPTURED.

He Was in the Act of Robbing a Pedestrian When Officer Mullen Came Upon Him.

Paterson, N. J., April 19.—Though Hogan and Jenner, the chief operators in the recent epidemic of highway robberies, are now behind bars, the city is not exempt from startling occurrences of the same nature as those in which they participated. Last night a number of pedestrians were held up and relieved of money by thugs in West Paterson, and one of the miscreants was jailed.

Patrolman Mullen, whose beat is in the district, heard reports to the effect that a gang was at work in the vicinity of Grand street at a point where the roadway is cut through an outlying spur of Garret Mountain, and demanding the law in the act. The fellow, who proved to be John O'Rourke, better known to the police as "Boss" O'Rourke, had just started a peddling by the collar when he was caught. Mullen locked him up. Three companions of O'Rourke fled when they saw his plight.

It is said that O'Rourke was one of a gang which recently attacked a man on Grand street, and carried him off to jail for ninety days on a charge of disorderly conduct, made by the patrolman. Later in the evening Mullen gave chase to two men who were holding up a man named Sommers on Marshall street in a similar manner, but they eluded him.

FOUND HIM IN A DITCH.

Discharged Hospital Patient Tried to Walk from Jersey City to Orange.

Orange, N. J., April 19.—Robert Van Kemp, who said he is the owner of a farm in Bergen County, N. J., was found at 1 o'clock last night lying by the roadside on the premises of J. F. Grady, at West Orange. He was taken to the West Orange Police Station, and to Captain Sanford he said he had walked from Jersey City.

Van Kemp said he had been in a Jersey City hospital and was discharged the day before. He was unable to walk, and claimed that he could scarcely draw one leg after the other. He got lost in the darkness in the evening, and when he awoke he found himself in the ditch where he was found.

ERIE'S LATEST SCHEME.

Wants to Push a Line Through from West Orange to Philadelphia.

Orange, N. J., April 19.—A rumor was abroad to-day that the Erie Railroad, which recently absorbed the Greenwood Lake and Watchung railroads, scheming to push a line through from West Orange to Philadelphia. The Erie road terminates at Main street, West Orange.

It is proposed by the company to tunnel under Main street, that street, and the Delaware Bay shore, to Cape May. From Cape May the line will run along the coast through Holly Beach, Wildwood, Agnew, Stone Harbor, Peconic, Avalon, Sea Isle City and Ocean City.

DOLLAR A PIECE FOR SONS.

Mrs. Trautwein's Will Also Excludes Their Wives from the Homestead.

Hackensack, N. J., April 19.—Surprise is expressed at the bequests made in the will of Mrs. Mary Trautwein, which was probated by Surrogate Haring here yesterday. Her husband, William Trautwein, is one of the best known hotel keepers in this section. He is to have an income, the amount of which is to be settled by the executor, but the estate is valued at $200,000.

The two daughters get $2,000 each, and the two sons, Dr. Eugene and Edward, get $10,000 each. The estate is valued at $200,000, and the two daughters are to be equally divided between the daughters after the death of their father.

HUNDREDS BATTLE WITH FOREST FIRE.

Fierce Flames Are Licking Up Many Acres of Valuable Timber.

Farmers at Perth Amboy Are Trying to Save Their Homes from Destruction.

SAID TO BE WORK OF INCENDIARIES.

The Residents of Egg Harbor City and Vineland Turn Out to Help the Country People in Their Desperate Struggle.

Egg Harbor, N. J., April 19.—Great and destructive forest fires have been raging for three days near Port Republic, a thriving village five miles southeast of this city. The fire is now at its height, and has already burned over a tract of land covering four square miles, all covered with valuable growing timber.

A general alarm was sounded to-day by blowing the factory whistles at Port Republic, and hundreds of the townspeople and farmers turned out to fight the flames. The fire passed so close to the farm house of Henry Dietrich, beyond Port Republic, that the heat blistered the paint on two sides of the building.

To-night the reflection of the fire can be plainly seen at all times, and occasionally the flames themselves can be seen from Egg Harbor City. The air is full of smoke and the clouds carried by the wind are dropping in this city.

Word was received to-night that if the fire holds its course until morning there will be great danger of the residences of W. M. Loose and Thomas Weber being burned. They are in the path being followed by the fire, and the occupants are in readiness to move at any moment. There are no chances of checking the flames. The underbrush is dry and the ground has not been soaked with rain for weeks.

Perth Amboy, N. J., April 19.—Farmers in Woodbridge Township are great sufferers from forest fires, and yesterday thousands of dollars worth of damage was done in a few hours.

Flames raged in three localities at once, and it is believed that all of them were of incendiary origin. The home of Henry Wilson, three miles from Woodbridge, was threatened by fire, and the danger was so great that the household goods were carried from the house. Wilson's wife was alone with her children at the time, and she was panic-stricken as the flames neared the house.

Louis Bolmer and Charles Murdock, two teamsters, saw her danger and hastened to her aid. They helped her get her most valuable possessions to a place of safety before attempting to fight the fire. The heat was intense, as the stubble and grass burned fiercely. The house was saved, but Wilson's barn and outbuildings were totally destroyed.

A special watch will be kept day and night to prevent any attempt to burn barns.

Vineyard, N. J., April 19.—A forest fire started yesterday afternoon near Almond road and burned all night, despite the work of gangs of men to check it. The fire ate its way up Maurice River Swamp to Black Water Swamp, where it spread out. A house belonging to Daniel Horster was burned to the ground.

The fire is believed to have been caused by railroad sparks. Late this evening the fire is said to have been checked by back fires.

TO PROTECT THE FISHERMEN.

Atlantic Company, Just Incorporated, Now Controls Forty Ponds.

Long Branch, N. J., April 19.—The Atlantic Fish Company, with a capital of $25,000, has just been incorporated under the laws of the State of New Jersey, to protect the fishermen living at this place, and between Seabright and Barnegat. The new association will have control of all the fish ponds—about forty in number—and will have headquarters at this place.

The object of the new association will be to sell fish direct to the consumers and do away with the middleman man entirely. John A. Gibbons is president of the new association, C. A. Francis vice-president and William White secretary.

A New Telephone Line for Resorts.

Sea Isle City, N. J., April 19.—The coast resort towns of Cape May County are soon to be connected with Philadelphia, New York and nearby towns by telephone. A line will be run from Port Morris, on the Delaware Bay shore, to Cape May. From Cape May the line will run along the coast through Holly Beach, Wildwood, Agnew, Stone Harbor, Peconic, Avalon, Sea Isle City and Ocean City.

Henry George's Followers Convene.

N. J., April 19.—Disciples of Henry George from all the cities of New Jersey met in convention at Passaic this afternoon. Nearly 100 delegates were present. Addresses were delivered by Bolton Hall, New York; James H. Brown, of Rutherford, and Dr. Miller, of Brooklyn.

AN INVOLUNTARY BATH.

A Bicycle Rider, Together with His Wheel, Slide from a Bridge into the Shrewsbury River.

Long Branch, N. J., April 19.—Joseph Robbins, of this place, who is an expert wheelman, was out for a spin on his bicycle yesterday morning. The planking of the bridge which spans the Shrewsbury River at Branchport had become well soaked by the rains of the previous night, and was in a very slippery condition.

When Mr. Robbins rode upon this structure he kept well to the edge to avoid the pools of water which had formed. When about at the centre of the bridge his wheel slipped on the treacherous planks and he was plunged, together with his bicycle, into the water below.

Luckily the river is shallow at this place, and Mr. Robbins escaped with slight injuries. The wheel was recovered.

NEED CHRIST IN BUSINESS.

Banker Cannon Says Religion Should Be Used in Everyday Commercial Life.

J. G. Cannon, president of the Bankers' Association and vice-president of the Fourth National Bank, addressed members of the Young Men's Christian Association on "Faith" yesterday, at Association Hall, Twenty-third street and Fourth Avenue. Cannon took for his text, "Watch ye; stand fast in the faith; quit you like men; be strong."

"If I should be asked for a definition of a successful young man, I would answer: 'One who, by prayer, piety and industry, accomplishes his object in life,' said the speaker.

In business affairs, when we have a good thing to sell every one knows what to do. Why should we not assist every one else to receive the advantages of close friendship with Jesus?"
